

Is Webull available 24 hours?

Webull is not fully 24 hours, but it does offer extended trading hours that give users more flexibility than standard market times. You can trade during pre-market hours, regular market hours, and after-hours sessions, which together cover a large part of the day. However, customer support and some account services may not be available around the clock. While Webull gives traders more time to react to market moves, true 24/7 trading is generally limited to certain assets like crypto, not traditional stocks.
